OCP, AFT RELEASE NEW RURAL VOTER POLL – DEMOCRATS MUST CHANGE COURSE TO APPEAL TO RURAL VOTERS

653 Rural Voters in Michigan Feel Democrats Don't Share Their Values

WASHINGTON, D.C. – One Country Project (OCP) and American Federation of Teachers (AFT) released a new poll conducted by Change America on the values and priorities of rural and small-town voters. 653 voters in Michigan were surveyed along with voters from Colorado, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

“What’s clear from these poll results is rural Michigianians, regardless of political party, feel like they are treading water economically. Simply put, the economy is not working for small towns and Main Street,” said One Country Project founder Heidi Heitkamp.

“These Americans are feeling the consequences of President Trump’s failed leadership and reckless economic policies in their daily lives. Unfortunately, rural Michigianians also don’t see Democrats as part of the solution. Rural voters are not seeing Democrats standing up for Democratic values – protecting hardworking Americans and focusing on kitchen table issues. This means Democrats need to change course and focus on solutions that help small town Americans.”

Poll Results

Economy

- Michigianians’ view of the economic vibrance of their communities was universally bleak. When asked in small towns across America, if Main Street was declining or thriving, 39% of Michigianians said it was thriving and 61% said it was declining.
- When asked about wages and the economy, 23% were concerned about monthly bills going up faster than income, 17% were concerned about jobs not paying enough, and 15% were concerned about saving for retirement.

Democrats

- The view of the Democratic party was just as negative.
- Only 23% think Democrats support rural communities, 28% believe Democrats support people like them, and 25% believe Democrats support trade policies that help their communities.

Solutions

- There are issues that rural voters care about and all candidates should focus on.
- 81% were concerned about opioid and prescription drug addiction, 92% about the cost of prescription drugs and medications, and 92% about the cost of health insurance premiums, a theme seen across the board in all states surveyed.
